CHANDRA SPRING | SUMMER 2022 COLLECTION

a collection of quintessential and gender-neutral garments inspired by the moon phases and our connection with Chandra's flow to maintain balance. As per every season, the meaning of the collection is linked to Bav's inner journey during her design process.

The holistic sphere of BAV TAILOR continues to reinforce its manifesto in support of global craftsmanship, diversity and 'slow' fashion. The collection is focused on key pieces that narrate her desirable hygge vision. The must-have shirt, the blazer, the trouser, the anorak, the luxe t-shirt and athflow essentials. Clothes created with a purpose, rather than superfluous.

Materials remain at the core of Bav's purpose project. As always, certified, innovative, recycled or recovered from disposed waste and acquired through the brand's trusted suppliers, who bear internationally recognised certifications.

For this new season, the concept of dualism continues through gender-neutral silhouettes and materials that reflect a new conscious identity.

The Lokya Nadi Luxe T-Shirt and Trousers are presented in lush bio cupro plissé inspired by leaves, which trickle along the skin like the Himalayan streams - a regenerated cellulose fabric derived from cotton waste which sumptuously flows along the contours of the body. The Prana Moon Anorak and Jacket are presented in a more luxurious supple textured MARM\MORE, created from Italian marble extract. Precious Biellese green certified cotton and linen blends cultivated with sustainable production processes have been incorporated into the new Lokya Chandra Culottes and Blazer while the Lokya Chandra Shirt is presented in the brand's signature 3D textured Japanese salt-finished organza silk whilst the new Shakti Chandra Jumpsuit in bio silk which remain must have fabrics due to scientific energy benefits that stem from Indian culture where silk is known to attract and absorb electromagnetic energy to create an instant feeling of calm and concentration whilst providing hypoallergenic and beauty enhancing properties. The brand's iconic crisp Lokya Cube Shirt in naturally cultivated organic nettle known as Nordic silk due to its finesse and translucent sheen and renowned as the most breathable natural fibre that exists due to its moisture releasing properties, is juxtaposed with the new Prana Chandra Trousers in a green certified seersucker in a fresh blend of cotton and linen with soft, precious threads of silk which form part of a new project. Presented as part of the BAV TAILOR "Artisanal Lab" platform which endeavours to showcase the refined craftsmanship of global artisans and promote creative talent, this season showcases an ancient Damascus block printing technique that has been brought back to life by the wonderful artisans of Lebanon at the Studio Kunukku - a design studio based in Beirut, Lebanon that aims to tell stories of displaced communities through lost and endangered crafts, such as block printing as a medium for social change and transformation. This joint collaboration has resulted in the creation of a gender-neutral capsule collection of clothing and travel size yoga / pranayama meditation mat which forms part of BAV TAILOR's shanti wellness sphere.

To enrich the wellness offer, athflow pieces and pranayama accessories form part of two Artisanal Lab collaborations that support the artisans in India and Africa, both homelands and ancestral roots of Bav.

The yoga/athflow essential pieces presented in an innovative material SENSITIVE® SCULPT, a certified blend obtained from through the SensitivEcoSystem® which boasts superior breathability and moisture control benefits to the skin, have been produced in India by London based company Kapdaa, a 360° sustainable hub that produces items with a zero-waste offcuts policy embedded into its DNA. The company's uniqueness lies in the circularity of the supply chain whilst addressing the impact of the fashion industry on the environment and tackles well-documented human welfare issues such as working conditions, wellbeing, fair pay and women's empowerment.

The Ying | Yang Chandra candle and incense holder set comprises of two semi-spheres in sandstone, sourced and sculpted by the soulful craftsman of Afrikiko in Tabaka, Kenya in Sub-Saharan Africa, a fair-trade project that supports the livelihood of local communities and promotes innovative Kenyan deco products and remains to date a member of KEFAT, the Kenyan chapter of WFOT.

A free-spirited collection, for the worldly nomad.
